

Speechless Reconciliation NEWS

EDITORIAL

Hello everyone and welcome you to our 3rd Newsletter!

As you will see, our project team continue to initiate exciting new collaborations and future opportunities. We have welcomed two new partners and have some important news on awards and recognitions. We are looking forward to continuing the conversations into the future and see where they take us all. And, because, we think that testimonials can be a strong inspiration to join our efforts, we have given the floor to some of the youngsters and group leaders who participated in the 2021 summer camp.

Our major activity for this month is our fundraising event on Saturday, May 28th. You can still be part of it!

We hope you enjoy the read!
Take care & best regards,

Your Speechless Reconciliation team

Because we cannot do it alone!

We are happy to introduce you to two new partners who are committed to helping us to deliver impact and achieve our goals.

Late Night Diplomacy (LND) is a student-driven initiative aimed to create a discussion forum between aspiring professionals, students, in the field of International Relations and Political Sciences and dedicated professionals, politicians, diplomats, public servants, etc.

Wenable is a non-conventional digital consultancy from Barcelona. It is dedicated to simplifying, optimizing, and integrating technological processes in the business environment. Its main goal is to maximize and make profitable the time and resources that companies invest in achieving one of their main objectives: attract and retain customers.

SOS Children's Villages Serbia is joining the project...

Yes, we made it! April 15, 2022 was an important milestone in the project.

We have managed to partner with the last missing organization to fulfil our initial goal.

The director of the SOS Children's Village Mirko Jankelic once again confirmed in a very pleasant atmosphere that six members of their youth of the "village" and two social workers will participate in the summer camp in the Czech Republic in August 2022. Matej and director Mirko started talks about technical details and all the logistical procedures.

Summer camp 2021 impressions

Nine months after the Summer Camp in 2021, some youngsters and group leaders look back on their experience of 9-days in the Beskydy mountains and in Prague, and on the impact of the project in general.

Last call for registration for our "Balkan Fun" event

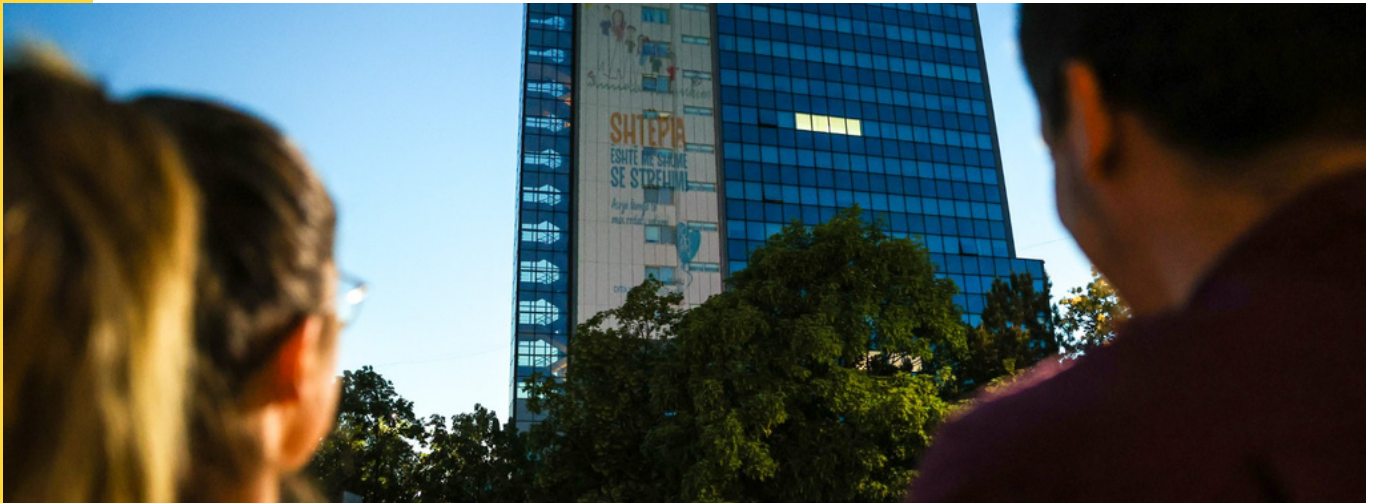

It is less than 4 days until the Balkan Fun event. We still have a few places left. Hurry up and contact Matěj Keka kekamatej@gmail.com. See you on Saturday, 28th of May 2022.

In motion...

Take a look behind the scenes of the project team and immerse yourself in the world of Speechless Reconciliation.

Rotarians Sylvia Strube and Matěj happily selling out the tickets for our fundraiser taking place on 28th of May. If you are a reader from Prague. Don't miss the opportunity to join us on 28th of May in Villa Pellé for this Balkan evening full of music, food and fun.

Anesa and Matej watching the banner in Pristina on 15th of May in the presence of SOS Kosovo staff and governmental officials. This was a very special day for SOS Kosovo since it was just a day before the International Family Day. For SOS Kosovo this was also very special moment because they managed to promote the SOS Kosovo and its mission to the wider audience from the general public.

Matej met with our partners from Wenables on 12th of May and had very fruitful discussion on the format of the online platform and our partnership just before the meeting with the Regional coordinator from SOS Children's Villages International. After that together with Tim Belon, they've met with the representatives from the SOS Childrens Villages International headquarters in order to discuss possible overlaps between the platform already developed by SOS and our own online platform initiative.

On the occasion of International Family Day, SOS Children's Villages Kosovo in cooperation with the Office for Good Governance / office of the Prime Minister in Kosovo, held a discussion table with key actors and partners on social policies, family challenges and opportunities. During this major event Matěj received one of the most important recognitions on behalf of SOS Villages Kosovo, as one of the most important partners in their network, as well as the only foreign organization. It was an important meeting with the participation of relevant actors from Kosovo Parliament, UNICEF, NGOs for the protection of children, as well as from the education, health and social welfare sectors.

Belon Family visiting SOS Child Villages Kosovo

Early April 2022 Joke, Jens and Tim visited the SOS Children's Village in Kosovo. They visited Ora Bytyçi, Anesa Cuca and the different SOS teams in different locations around Pristina. They had a lot of meetings together in order to understand the children's needs even better. This information is now used to finetune and improve the Speechless Reconciliation concept. During this visit they have also met with the youngsters who participated in the SR2021 project. All of them do really great. Some found student jobs, some are preparing their move out of the SOS Houses, some actively try to get access into Universities,... . We are all very proud of these fantastic youngsters and we are happy we can help and support the angels of SOS Kosovo, because that is what they are, all SOS people at Kosovo, ANGELS!
